

Neutrales Datenblatt

The image shows a data sheet with a grid structure. The top right corner features a shaded area with diagonal lines. The main body of the sheet is a grid with 3 columns and 25 rows. The first two columns are wider than the third. The grid is composed of small squares, with the first two columns being larger than the third. The shaded area is a parallelogram shape that fits into the top right corner of the grid.